

The 12-Lesson track may be best suited for educators who would like to complete the project over a semester or a year. This can also best be used with a class or group that meets regularly—daily or weekly. The activities are spread out over 12 lessons to meet the demands of these situations. If educators need to condense any lessons, they may refer to the 6-Lesson track for recommendations.

The 6-Lesson track may be best suited for educators who have a shorter period of time in which to complete the project or for groups that meet less frequently. The activities from the 12-Lesson track have been combined to allow educators to cover more material in each lesson. If educators would like to expand any lessons, they may refer to the 12-Lesson track for recommendations and supplemental activities.

LESSON 6: CREATE A TEAM STRUCTURE AND CULTURE	Students can work together as a group outside of class to develop an action plan in activity 1 if there is not time during class.	LESSON 4: YOU HAVE TO BELIEVE IT CAN BE DONE	This is an essential part of the project. Be sure to spend enough time here to ensure that students properly plan for the project and anticipate possible hurdles.  Consider reviewing activity 2, lesson 7 for directions on contacting and scheduling appointments with stakeholders to discuss the project.
LESSON 7: YOU HAVE TO BELIEVE IT CAN BE DONE	Students may complete the self-reflections in activities 1 and 3 on their own as homework to save class time.
LESSON 8: PERSONALIZE YOUR VISION	This lesson may need to be spread out over several days as students will be making and attending appointments with stakeholders to discuss their project. Students may also complete the self-reflection on their own as homework.
LESSON 9: MARKET AND BE THE CHANGE	This lesson will require multiple class periods and time outside of class to complete. This is the crucial step in the process during which students implement their project.	LESSON 5: CREATE A TEAM STRUCTURE AND CULTURE	This lesson will require multiple class periods and time outside of class to complete.
